The Bicycle Brigade of Medellin · Preguntas 17 a 22

Read the text and answer the questions that follow.

Every Sunday morning, in a park in the north of Medellin, six volunteers open three metal boxes full of tools. They belong to the Bicycle Brigade, a group that repairs bicycles for free. Camilo Restrepo, a mechanic who works in a garage during the week, started the group in 2016 with only two friends and a pump.

The rule of the brigade is simple: the owner of the bicycle must stay and help with the repair. Camilo says that in this way people learn to change a tyre or a chain by themselves, and they do not need to come back every month. Last year the volunteers repaired more than nine hundred bicycles, and half of them belonged to students of two nearby schools.

The group also gives short classes about safety in the street. Since 2021 the city has lent them a small room in the park, where they keep the tools during the week. Camilo would like other neighbourhoods to copy the idea, because a bicycle that works is, for many families, the only way to reach school or work.

17 According to the text, the volunteers of the Bicycle Brigade meet

A. on Friday nights.
B. on Sunday mornings.
C. every day of the week.

18 During the week, Camilo Restrepo works as

A. a mechanic in a garage.
B. a teacher in a school.
C. a driver in the city.

19 According to the text, the Bicycle Brigade started

A. in 2021, when the city lent the group a room in the park.
B. in 1990, in a workshop of another city of Antioquia.
C. in 2016, with a pump and two friends helping Camilo.

20 En el diagrama aparecen, en inglés, las partes de la bicicleta que nombra la lectura.

The owner of the bicycle must stay and help with the repair. According to Camilo, this rule exists because in this way

A. the volunteers of the brigade can finish the work much faster.
B. each owner can repair the same damage without help later.
C. the owners can pay for the repair with their own work.

21 The text says that half of the bicycles repaired last year belonged to

A. students of two nearby schools.
B. the volunteers of the brigade.
C. families from other cities.

22 From the last paragraph, we can understand that Camilo would like the idea of the brigade to be

A. paid for by the families that use it.
